Upper Division Excursion to the Shelter Expo at Young
On a fine Tuesday morning Upper Division boarded the bus headed for our first ‘Shelters Expo’ at Young Town Hall. We joined Murringo and Mairuru Public Schools in displaying the work we have done on shelters this term. The children were quizzed by the other students and teachers, as well as four judges, on the sustainability of their shelters. Thank you to Mrs Phillips for her help and well done to Upper Division for all their hard work.
This week and during the holidays we wish Happy Birthday to Lily, William and Sam.

Questacon & Floriade Excursion
Short stories by Lower Division about their excursion:

At Questacon we saw a man in a show. He sat on 300 nails and it didn’t hurt him. He put a teddy on a catapult and people caught it. By Saige

In Questacon there were seven galleries. One, two, three, four, five, six, seven galleries! Wow! That is a lot of galleries. Oh, and there is a robot at the bottom of Questacon. If you touch a button the robot will move for real. By Jed

At Questacon it was all about science and the best part was the slippery dip and at Floriade there was flowers and cubby houses. By Mason

In Questacon there was a slide. First you had to hang and then a man counted to three and then you had to let go and you needed to look at your feet. It is so big and I nearly cried. By Daytona
